A CINCINNATI PIONEER IN TEXAS.—Mr. Thomas, Stansbury, one of the earliest settlers in Cincinnati, is now living in Houston, Texas, aged eighty-two. A recent letter from him says: "I moved to Cincinnati in 1805, when there were but three brick houses in the place, and a part of what is now Mainstreet, was covered by a wheat field."

Finale of the Medical Imbroglio.—The case of Dr. O. E. Newton, Captain James Newton and George Whitmore, charged with an assault and battery upon the person of Dr. A. E. Heighway, was concluded in the Police Court yesterday. After a careful hearing of the case, Judge Lowe delivered a long and able charge to the jury, when they retired to their room. They were absent about seven hours, when they returned with a verdict of "Not Guilty," and were discharged.

This case has occupied the attention of the Court nearly three days, and has excited considerable interest from the position and standing of the parties concerned. It seems to have originated in a series of petty annoyances, continued for several years, which undoubtedly found their crisis in the difficulty that lead to the present trial. The verdict of the jury is no doubt a just one; and it is to be hoped that the neighbors may now find the termination of the embittered feelings so long existing between them. ings so long existing between them.

RESULT OF THE HARRAS CORPUS SUED OUT FOR THE CHILD.—In the matter of Mary Ahn Butler, the child awarded on Wednesday afternoon to the custodianship of Sylvester Gaffiney, an application for a writ of error was made in behalf of the respondant T. On this writ the case comes up for hearing in June, and, in the meantime, Mr. Weightman, having given bond in the sum of $500, retains the custody of the child until that time.

APPLICATION TO SELL CHURCH PROPERTY. The Second Universalist Society of Cincinnative. C. Moulton, T. H. Weasner, John A. Gurley and others. This was an application to self the church property and parsonage on the south-west corner of Sixth and Moundstreets. Plaintiff avers it is necessary to self the same in order to pay the debts of the church. Defendants have liens for building and money lent, and others are pew-holders.

Judge Collins held the sale to be necessary, and appointed C. Moulton to make the same and briting the proceeds into Court.

MECHANICS' AND MANUFACTURES Exchange, Frendent Runyan occupied the Chair, and, after the preliminary opening exercises, Henry C. Lord, President of the Indianapolis and Oinclunati Baliroad, was proposed for membership by Huston, Carleton & Co., and unanimously elected.

Mr. R. B. Moore, Chairman of the Committee recently appointed to examine and report in regard to the quarries, Indiana, and its value as building material, submitted the following, which was received and filed, when the Bo were also enabled, through the courtesy of H. C. Lord, the President of the L and C. R. R. Co., to visit and examine the quarries, being accompanied by architects and builders from the city. We find the quarries in the cliff limestone formation, and where the L and C. R. R. crosses the Flat Rock; that stream indents deeply below the summit level. An inexhaustible supply of good limestone cropping out on either side, in bluffs and of easy access; a most admirable arrangement of the L. and C. R. R. Co., which has a lateral branch into the quarries, so that cars can be laden and run directly to this city. The stone is heavy, compact, quite free from defects, in our opinion durable and valuable as a building material."

In some remarks made by Mr. Moore in regard to this stone, he stated that in his opinion it was better than that which has here-tofore been used in this city, and, as it is hard and capable of a beautiful polish, he doubted not it would crelong come into general use.

Unpardonable Case of Reckless Driving. Evening before last an express wagon, driven by a man named Henry Weiman, came in contact with a carriage at the corner of Racestreet and Fifteenth, apsetting the latter vehicle and considerably injuring it. Without stopping to assist in repairing the damage he had done, Weiman drove off as rapidly as possible, apparently careless as to the result of the accident.

Mrs. Henry Lewis, who occupied the carriage in company with her children, was very severely injured. Her shoulder was thrown out of place and her body badly bruised, while her son, a lad four years of age, was also seriously injured. Weiman was arrested and committed to await an examination, which will probably take place this morning.

The Quadri-Centennial Anniversary of

THE QUADRI-CENTENNIAL ANNIVERSARY OF THE Y. M. M. L. Association.—The celebra-tion of the approaching quadri-centennial anniversary of the Young Men's Mercantile Library Association seems to be attracting considerable attention, and now promises to be one of the most brilliant affairs of the kind ever given in the city. The committee of one hundred appointed to make the necessary arrangements for the occasion, met last night at the Chamber of Commerce, but no business of importance was transacted. Over five hundred tickets have already been sold, and the prospect now is that nearly that many more will be sold before next Wednes-day. The committee adjourned to meet next Saturday evening at eight o'clock.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT TO A LITTLE BOY .boy named Joseph Simmons, about twelve years of age, was thrown from a horse, yes-terday afternoon, on Liberty-street, near Race, and seriously injured. His right arm was broken, and his skull fractured to such an broken, and his skull fractured to such an extent as to render his recovery a matter of some doubt. He was taken up immediately and received medical attention, after which he was removed to the residence of his parents, on Buckeye-street.

Burglary on Sixth-street.—The dwelling house of a man named James C. Evans, located on Sixth-street, a short distance below the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railway Depot, was feloniously entered and robbed, night before last, of valuables to the amount of thirty dollars. Before retiring, their noise aroused the inmates, and they were obliged to leave the premises in a manner far too rapid to be elegant, but they were not overtaken.

GROVER & BAKEE'S SEWING MACHINES.—We have used one of Grover & Baker's sewing machines in our family for nearly two years. We have done all kinds of sewing upon it that is required to be done in a large family, and it has worked to our entire satisfaction in every respect. It has never been out of repair, though in almost daily use. The seam is as strong and durable as any cloth can be made. There is no difficulty about the tension of the thread, the finest and the coarsest work equally well. We have given it a most thorough trial, and we cordially recommend it to all as a machine which has no superior. REV. CHAUNCEY GILES. GROVER & BAKER'S SEWING MACHINES .- We Mayon's Count.—William St. Clair and William Smith were arraigned before Mayor Hawkins, yesterday, charged with some connection with the destruction of a house of ill-fame, on Orchard-street. The house had become so odious that their acts, in the eyes of the multitude, were regarded as justifiable; and a fine of one cent only was assessed against the former, and $5 against the latter. SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—A man named Read, who resides in Cincinnati, fell from the ferrywho resides in Chichman, felt before last, and was not rescued until in a state bordering on insensibility. He was taken on board the "Art Palace" and every necessary attention bestowed upon him, until he had recovered sufficienty to admit of his return home.

the recipient of a benefit at the above establishment to-night. Mr. H. is a resident of our city, and is therefore entitled to some

AMUSEM TINES.

Pike's Offica-House was quite large and brilling at the Opera-house was quite large and brilling, and the performance passed of with estat.

The Predigal Son will be repeated this evening, in connection with The Tocolles, for the benefit of J. F. Herbert, the Treasurer of the establishment. We have spoken herstofore, at length, of the performance of this spectacle, and have no doubt the dramatic season could be prolonged with profit.

The beneficiare has a large number of friends, and we doubt not will he see them all present upon this occasion. Mr. Davidge, as "Tocolles," has already won the estrem of the public, and this, in addition to The Prodigist Son, renders the programme quite attractive.

Wood's Thratin.—Macbeth drew quite a large sudience to this establishment hast night, and it left the theater, apparently, highly gratified at the entertainment. The rendering of this difficult character by Mr. Booth was exceedingly artistic, and as a whole was probably the best impersonation of his present engagement.

This evening has been set apart for the benefit of Mr. B., and he has selected for the occasion Richard almost as famous as his father, whose impersonation was justly regarded as the best ever witnessed in this country. The performance will conclude with the laughable farce of The Obstinate Family, thus forming a bill of sufficient magnetic power to fill the house to repetition. NATIONAL THEATER.—The audience at the National, last night, upon the occasion of the benefit of Matilda Heron, was very good; but the performance, apart from the impersonation of "Camille," was very bad. Mr. Prior, the "Armand" of the evening, was execuable, and as for Mr. Macanlay, who appeared as "De Barville," his enacted the part in a manner wholly beneath denunciation. We will not trust ourselves to speak further of the attempted representations of these characters; for they were so utterly wratched as to defy criticism.

This evening the programme consists of The Demb Man of Manchester and The Wandering Boys of Switzerland.

CONCERT AT THE UINCINNATI FEMALE SEMINARY.—A grand concert, for the benefit of D. C. McCurmick, will be given at the Cincinnati Female Seminary, on the corner of Seventh and Mound, next Thursday evening, on which occasion Messra. Tosso, Kunkle, Junkerman and other well-known OPERA IN NEW ORLEANS.—Madame Mari-OPERA IN NEW ORLEARS.—Madame Marietta Gazzaniga appeared, on Monday evening, as "Lesoners" in It Trovatore, and Madame Pauline Colson, lost night, in the role of "Maria" in Le Fille de Regiment, at the Opera-house in New Orleans.

ON DT.—It is said that a popular steamboat Captain will shortly make his first appearance on any stage, at Wood's Theater, in the character of "Richard III."

The Late Great Freshet in Ohio—The Gathering of the Waters—Further Destruction of Life and Property.

The Scioto River yesterday appeared to be a point of attraction for all sorts of people, and was visited by a large umber of ladies and gentlemen, girls and boys. The rains of the night previous had their anticipated effect in swelling the stream to a still greater volume than they had on Tuesday. At day-light the freshet had reached the high water mark of the great flood of 1832, according to the authority of that mythical gentleman—the oldest inhabitant—but soon after daylight the river began to recede, and at sunset was still falling?

The flats on the west side were covered to a greater depth than had been attained before. Franklinton was nearly surrounded, and reduced to the extremity of an island suburb. The National Road, beyond Franklinton, was submurged for a considerable distance. The cellars to all the houses in the low lands were filled to overflowing with the all pervading element. The water in the city sewers about State-avenue backed up still farther than on the preceding day, and gave the pools and ponds in and about the houses on that thoroughfare an additional inch or two. The basements of most of the dwellings there were filled, and every description of furniture could be seen floating upon the surface.

More fences were swept away above the city, and the surface of the clay-colored stream was literally darked with floating timber. Directly under the National Bridge the tide was fearfully swift. At Circleville two men were drowned in attempting to cross it in a skiff.

The FLOOD AND THE RAILROADS.—About thirty feet of the track of the Columbus and Xenia Railroad, three miles from the city, washed away, night before last, immediately after the nine o'clock passenger train had passed over it. The water surged through the breach at a fearful rate, and would have done further damage but for the prompt exertions of the officers of the road after the accident was known. A large posse of workmen wer on the Central Ohio Railroad the freshet has been extremely disastrous. Beside the breaks mentioned yesterday the trestle-work seven miles from this city was broken. Some distance beyond this sixty feet of trestle-work is gone; and near Kirkersville one hundred feet of the same kind of track was washed away. Beyond Newark it is said the track is covered with water for miles. The train on this road which left here Tuesday morning was compelled to return and reached Columbus at three o'clock yesterday afternoon. On the Steubenville and Indiana Road, five hundred feet of the track at Adam's Mills was very much damaged by the bursting of the canal banks; but as there is no grade there a portion of it has already been replaced, and the remainder will soon be repaired. The trains on this road were also stopped by an immense land alide near Hanover. On the Central Ohio Railroad the stopped by an immense land slide near Hanover.

The railroad men are making gigantic exertions to repair these sudden and almost overwhelming disasters. Hundreds of men are at work repairing the various breaks, and if no further casualty follows, a few days will see them all right again.

The Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad was still broken yesterday, and the Cleveland and Pittsburg Road gave way before the flood in three places—at Salinville, Yellow-Creek Bridge and another place nearer Cleveland. All connection with the East is cut off except vix the Cleveland and Columbus Railroad, which has withstood the shock, without losing a connection or being behind its regular time. The Columbus, Piqua and Indiana Railroad, having repaired the breaks in its track made the day previous, also ran its trains on time. also ran its trains on time.

The Death of Mrs. Jameson-The Beauty and Severity of her Life.

and Severity of her Life.

The death of Mrs. Jameson is a great loss to the literature of the arts, but greater still to the many friends of this most exemplary, intelligent, and geniallady. Few of the public knew under what circumstances Mrs. Jameson's works were produced—at what cost of ill-remunerated but most conscientious labor—and on what holy and self-sacrificing purposes the proceeds of that labor were employed. For many, many years, Mrs. Jameson was the almost sole support of her mother and her sisters, and of a sister's child besides. No one ever bore a heavier load of self-imposed obligations, or carried that load more uncomplainingly. She moved under it as if she never felt it.

But it was very heavy for all that, and it more uncomplainingly. She moved under it as if she never felt it.

But it was very heavy for all that, and it has broken her down at last. Her almost incessant labor during the latter years of her life, was lightened by an annuity of £100, (in addition to a pension of the same amount,) which annuity she owed to the determined kindness of her friend, Mrs. Proctor, (wife of that sweetest of singers and kindest of men, better known to the world by his aom de plums of Barry Cornwall,) who raised the sum required for the purchase of this annuity by her own unaided efforts from among Mrs. Jamieson's friends, and presented it to the unsuspecting and astonished donce as a birthday gift. It is well that such acts should be known, especially when done so unostentatiously and bravely.—London Daily News.

legislate upon business of vital importance to the country.

Mr. Green said there was no use to deceive themselves. No business could be done dur-ing the convention. They might as well meet the matter squarely.

Mr. Mason withdrew his resolution.

Mr. Wilson's resolution instructing the Military Committee to inquire into the con-tracts made by the War Department was taken up.

Mr. Yules saw no propriety in adopting the resolution.

The bill to grant $25,000 for five years to the Public Schools of the District of Columbia was then taken up.

Mr. Clark offered an amendment that a portion should go for the education of the colored population.

This excited some debate.

Mr. Brown was willing the free negroes in the District should be educated in their own schools and to authorize them to tax themselves for the purpose. He would go further and say if the Northern people would let the slaves alone he would favor the education of the slaves. But for the interference of the North this would have been done long ago. They gave their blacks a religious education, and would give them other instruction but that Northern fanatics take advantage of their learning to make them their own enemies.

Mr. Mason opposed the amendment. He and would give them other instruction but that Northern fanatics take advantage of their learning to make them their own enemies.

Mr. Mason opposed the amendment. He thought it wise policy on the part of the Southern States to withhold education from the slaves. Negroes, bound or free, form no part of our political society.

The amendment was further discussed by Messrs. Davis, Bayard and others.

Mr. Wilson said that wherever Republicans resist the expansion of slavery they had lectures from the other side on the equality of races. The North don't seize black men and sell them for fear of their equality.

The North was not unwilling to permit black men to read the Bible.

Mr. Iverson said it was not true that the slaves were not allowed to learn to read. They are not allowed to learn to read. They are not allowed to learn to read. They are not allowed to learn to write, for that would be dangerous.

Mr. Wilson—II am sorry the Senator don't understand the laws of his own State. I have the laws of the Southern States in my room, proving what I say, and will produce them here.

Mr. Davis inquired whether Mr. Wilson believed in the equality of all men, black or white.

Mr. Wilson replied that so far as national rights were concerned he did. In mental and physical characteristics, he believed the African race inferior to the white race.

Mr. Davis—Does he mean in social and political rights or in political and social equality; for what right means is a thing to be determined afterward.

Mr. Wilson—I believe every human being has a right to his life and liberty, and act so as to secure his own happiness. In other words, I believe the Declaration of Independence exactly and precisely—

Mr. Harlan asked Mr. Davis if he believed in the equality of all white men?

Mr. Davis said yes, in the political equality of every citizen of the United States. He alluded to some of Mr. Wilson's remarks as being offensive, and said that that Senator spoke on his own responsibility.

HOUSE.-The House passed the Senate ill to settle the title to the lands alo oundary of Georgia and Florida.

The Speaker laid before the House an excutive communication in compliance vesolution transmitting a result of the resolution transmitting a result of the Coast Survey, showing the practicability of making Harlem River navigable.

Mr. Gilmer, from the Committee on Elections, reported the following:

WHENDAS, It is claimed that a portion of the Territory of Minnesota, not included in the State of Minnesota, still remains an organized Territory, and the residents thereof are entitled to have a delegate in Congress, therefore, herefore, Resolved, That the President communicate, if not incompatable with the public interests, all such information as he may have in his possession as to the existence of any such possession as to the existence of any such Territory.

The preamble was rejected and the resolution adopted.

Twenty-five thousand copies of the President's protest, and the replies of the Committee on the Judiciary, on the subject, was ordered to be printed.

The consideration of the report of the Committee on Public Expenditures, proposing reform in the public printing, and the French Spoliation Bill, were postponed, the former till the 25th inst., and the latter till the 9th of May.

till the 25th inst., and the latter till the 9th of May.

The Senate bill, for a telegraph to the Pacific, came up. Mr. Colfax explained the amendment proposed by the Committee on Post Roads and Postoffices, as reducing the amount annually to be paid by the Government to be $40,000. If the messages exceed this amount, the Government is to pay the additional rates. The price for ten words is to be reduced to $3. If the contractors refuse to accept this bill, the Secretary of the Interior is to advertise for proposals to give the contract to the lowest bidder. He spoke of the necessity of such means of communication, especially in cases of war, and this was the best economical measure yet produced.

cation, especially in cases of war, and this was the best economical measure yet produced.

Mr. Stanton regretted that the committee had thought it necessary to reduce the amount from that proposed by the Senate. He hoped, however, that the bill would be passed, as it was of incalculable importance to the Pacific, and would facilitate the opening of a great thoroughfare to that coast.

Mr. Burnett opposed the bill. There was no power under the Constitution authorising the Government to engage in building telegraph lines. It creates a monopoly for ten years at an expense of $400,000, besides giving advantages as to the lands. The names of the corporators should be stricken out and the contract made with the lowest responsible bidders.

Mr. Conkling said he would gladly have yoted for the bill as it came from the Senate, believing that the rates therein were cheaper

Mr. Conking sain he would glading have youed for the bill as it came from the Senate, believing that the rates therein were cheaper and more moderate than the tariff existing, on any telegraph line on this or any other continent. The corporators had all the skill and character necessary to this enterprise, and opening it to competition would damage, if not defeat, the object in view. He expressed surprise at Mr. Burnett's constitutional objection, considering that this bill had received the sanction of a very large majority of the Senate, in which there are sixty presidential candidates.

Mr. Allen did not consider that the bill bestowed on the corporators an exclusive monopoly, nor did the Committee so intend. If the matter was thrown open to competition it would defer, for another year at least, the building of the line, the advantages of which people.

No question was taken on the bill.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole.

The tariff bill was nominally under consideration.

washingtos, April 12.—Soon after the colloquy in the House yesterday between Messrs, Potter and Pryor, Mr. Hindman called Mr. Potter out of the House on behalf of Mr. Pryor, and it is believed delivered a message to go outside of the District. When this fact became the control of the District.

gone out to fight a duel, as neither of them were at flome last night, and they are not in their seats to-day.

[A portion of the dispatch in regard to the difficulty between Potter and Pryor has been omitted. The following refers, no doubt, to the arrangement of the duel.—Rep.]

It is stated that the distance was fixed at one hundred and fifty feet, but to this or the description of weapons, probable the latter, the friends of Pryor objected. Rumor says that thereupon Mr. Potter offered the choice of shotted-muskets or bowie-knives; and here the matter rests. The reports are so numerous and contradictory that nothing can be stated with confidence as to accuracy. The affair creates intense interest throughout the city, and some of the rumors are so extravagant in their details as to warrant the suspicion of having been invented to satisfy, in part, at least, an excessive appetite for the latest intelligence. It is generally conceded, however, that there has not been as yet a hostile meeting.

Mr. Hindeman has left for home. His friendly offices for Mr. Pryor were confined merely to the initiatory proceedings.

The Central Botts Club, of Virginis, to-day issued an address to the Opposition throughout the Union, urging the nomination of Mr. Botts as the most available candidate that can be selected by the National Union Convention at Baltimore. Leaverwoath, April 12.—The Republican Territorial Convention met at Lawrence on the 11th. A. C. Wilder, John A. Martin, W. A. Phillips, W. W. Ross and John P. Hatterschiedt were appointed delegates to Chicago. The convention passed unanimously a resolution declaring Seward the first choice of the Republicans of Kansas for President. The attendance was large and the action harmonious.

The tariff bill was nominally under consideration.

Mr. Hardeman made a speech, contending that Congress had no power to legislate for the Territories, either to establish or prohibit slavery, but it can only legislate for its protection where it legally exist. This was the Georgia doctrine. He therefore repudiated squatter sovereignty.

Mr. Crawford naked him whether he would vote for a candidate for the Presidency, who was not in favor of protecting slavery in the Territories.

Mr. Hardeman replied that he would not. He then asked Mr. Crawford whether he would vote for Mr. Douglas if he were nominated at Charleston.

Mr. Crawford replied, when that momination was made he would determine what course to he should take, and not until then.

Mr. Hindeman was glad he had converted to his doctrine his colleague, who would not cross the river till he got to the bridge. [Laughter].

Mr. Dawes gave his views on slavery, which he pronounced a sin and crime before God and man; an abrogating, withering curse to the land on which it rests and those who walk its surface.

Mr. Duell charged the Democratic party with the re-opening of the alavery segitation by the repeal of the Missouri Compromise, and proceeded to show how widely they have departed from the acctrine of Jefferson and the early fathers to the rights of man.
